All Tackle storage units are hand built and finished based on customer specifications. All units are quoted based on these specifications along with a contract to build. Upon acceptance of contract, all units require a 50% non refundable deposit upon commencement of contract to build. Upon completion of unit the customer at their discretion can either pick up the unit or have it shipped upon final payment and inspection. All units are guaranteed for life against defects in workmanship. Any repairs will be done as necessary at our facility. Shipping will be done by ground shipping at the customer's expense and can be quoted in the estimated cost. The specifications are very important. Please pre measure the area that you intend to put the Tackle Storage unit in to insure that the fit is correct. The ceiling height should be at least 8 foot for rod clearance in a normal unit. All rod holders are installed to allow for clearance between the reels, and adjoining walls. Please be as specific as possible in your descriptions and measurements. Font styles and proof drawing will be submitted for customer approval prior to construction to insure that there are no mistakes or misinterpretations from either party. We look forward to doing business with you.
